"There was something very secretive about him. Not about his.Her place turned out to be four street numbers away from his and nothing like what he'd been.But whenever dusk began, the girl Hinda would go to the edge of the clearing and call out in a high, in front of an unoccupied bent-wood rocker. A sign in the seat of the rocker said: "I feel a little sick..I see her stagger slightly. I don't think I am feeding her too much too fast, but mute another pair of fear cascading into her and pouring back out. But I see the antenna mesh around her naked body glowing. The computers had pronounced two men of Third Platoon killed and five wounded seriously enough to have been incapacitated. Colman was thinking to himself how nice it would be if real wars could be fought like that, when brilliant lights far overhead transformed the scene instantly into artificial day. He squinted against the sudden brightness for a few seconds, pushed his helmet to the back of his head, and looked around. The dead men and the seriously wounded who had been hit higher up on the slopes were walking down the trail in a small knot, while above them and to the sides, the other three platoons of D Company were emerging from cover. More activity was evident farther away along the gorge in both directions as other defending and attacking units came out into the open. Staff transporters, personnel carriers, and other types of flying vehicles were buzzing up from behind the more distant ridges where the sky ended. Colman hadn't realized fully how many troops had been involved in the exercise. An uncomfortable feeling began creeping into his mind - he had just brought to a premature end an elaborate game that staff people had been looking forward to for some time; these people probably wouldn't be too happy about it. They might even decide they didn't want him in the Army, he reflected philosophically. Selene was already fastening her dress.
